

Interaction-feature decomposition at train_40k, all nine published gaps

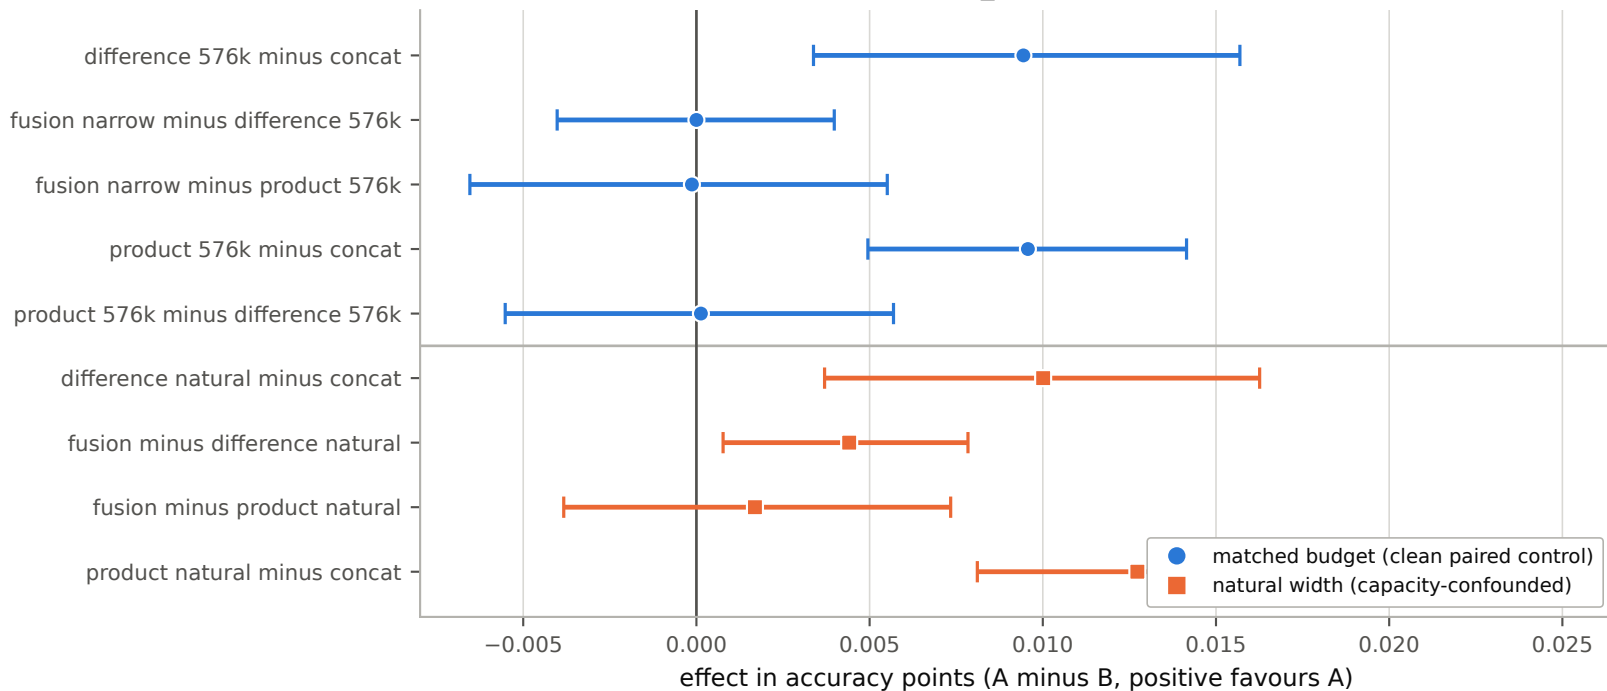

Image-clustered 95% intervals on 7,714 development questions over 768 represented images, five training seeds, uncorrected for multiplicity. The grid is complete: all nine published gaps are shown, including the four whose intervals include zero. Redundancy is inferred from the two terms performing alike at matched capacity, not from a mechanism.